ROHACEK CHOSEN SENIOR PRESIDENT; SECOND GIRL HEAD

Elect Knapp, Kurtz,
Sadler, Presidents
Of Lower Classes
HEAVY BALLOTING

For the second time in the history of Omaha University, a girl has been elected president of the senior class. She is Amy Rohacek, chosen in an all-school election which had the heaviest voting in years.

Other senior class officers elected are: Ellen Hartman, vice-president, and June Corkin, secretary-treasurer. Harold Johnk, Joe Barker, and Bess Shoecraft are the new council representatives.

Knapp Junior President

In the junior election, Wade Knapp was chosen president, and Eloise Johnson and Ardith Hudson tied for the office of vice-president. To settle the tie, a special meeting of the junior class will be held soon to decide between the two. Bob Anthes is the new secretary-treasurer of the junior class.

Sophomore Officers

Popular vote of the sophomore class selected Leonard Kurtz, president; Jane Cook, vice-president; Betty Arnold, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Spangler, student council representative.

Officers of the freshman class are: Stuart Sadler, president; Joe Dawson, vice-president; and Betty Malm, secretary-treasurer.

Those elected will hold office until the end of the year.

Record Number Of Students Sign On Debate Team

Eleven students have signed up for debate this year, three among them being veterans.

Prominent among the debaters are a number of freshmen: Hannah Baum, Enid Crowder, Lillian Monovitz, Robert Clausen, Maurice Klein, and Isidore Beber. Others enrolled are: Howard Greenwald, '39; Doris Lynn, '38; and last year's veterans, Lucille Hurlbut, '38; Macy Baum, '38, and Fannie Witkin, '38.

In place of using just the Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity, question, the squad will debate a number of questions, the first of which will be "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Regulate the Wages and Hours of Labor."

The tournament schedule will probably start November 1.

Dayton E. Heckman, professor of government and debate coach, urges all those interested in debate to attend meetings on Friday at 4 p. m. in Room 3.

Homecoming Schedule to Feature 3 Main Events

A parade in the morning and a banquet at the University after the game, followed by a dance at the gymnasium in the evening have been planned for Homecoming, October 16. An election to name the Homecoming Princess will be held October 14.

"Political Prom" Bars None

Whether you're for Landon, Roosevelt, or Aimee McPherson, don't miss the "Political Prom" tonight in Jacobs' Hall, starting at 9 p. m. This affair, the first mixer of the year, is sponsored by the W. A. A., with Amy Rohacek in charge of the arrangements.

The "swing" music will be swung by Bernard Champeney and his orchestra. Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Taylor and Mrs. Rene E. H. Stevens will be the guests of honor.

Honorary Frat Awards Points

Alpha chapter, Gamma Pi Sigma, national honorary chemistry fraternity, announced its honor point awards this week through its sponsor, Miss Nell Ward.

Honor points are given for scholarship and interest in chemistry. The awards are based on a percentage system.

The following chemistry students won honor points: Ethel Adler, '36, Herbert Hildebrand, '39, Ralph Kline, '39, Prentice Wendland, '39, John Zitnik, '38, James Britton, '38, Ray King, '39, Clitus Olson, '39, Harold Thompson, '39, John Nelson, '39, Vance Senter, '38, Bill Holland, '38, and Erma-grace Reilly, '37.

Dramatics Dept. Gives Readings

Members of the dramatics department of the University are giving readings and short plays as part of their advanced work.

Amy Rohacek presented a group of readings at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the Medical Arts tearoom, September 21, and at the county convention of Women's clubs held at the Omaha Women's club, Mrs. Bess Greer Shoecraft, assistant to Mrs. Jean Jarmin, head of the dramatics department, read September 25.

Miss Rohacek and Mrs. Shoecraft are giving a thirty-minute program of readings at the North Presbyterian church today.

Will Hold Free Dances in Gym

A dance orchestra, made up of University students, has been formed by Perry, Rushlau and Roy Larson to play in the gymnasium Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at noon.

There will be no charge for anyone wishing to attend these noon-day dances, but the faculty requests that no one eat his lunch in the building.

Members of the orchestra are John Rushlau, trumpet; Perry Rushlau, trombone; Robert Armstrong, trumpet; Roy Larson, bass; Julian McPherson, piano; Junior Helad, Louis Boettcher and Dick Christenson, saxophone; and Jim Moise, drums.

Publishers Think Sullenger's Book Will Set Record

According to reports received from his publishers by Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, head of the department of sociology at Municipal University, his book, "Social Determinants in Juvenile Delinquency," is expected to set a new record for publications of its type.

The book, published last May, sold over two hundred copies in the first month; and publishers have estimated a sale of at least 1,500 copies annually.

The text proved so popular in the United States that it has been published by a London company and has been widely used in England as a text book for law enforcement officers.

A study of juvenile delinquency in Omaha along with a generalization and analysis of reports from other cities, forms a basis for the material used in this book.

Feathers Usher At Convocations

The University convocation committee has approved the appointment of the Feathers, girls' pep organization, to usher at all convocations of the student body.

Pres. Haynes Speaks At Convocation

A convocation of the student body this morning will be featured by an address by President Haynes. This is the president's first opportunity to address the students as a whole.

A musical program will consist of singing by the University quartet, composed of Roy Larsen, Jack Bittner, Sam Cornett, and Don Reisser. The Feathers will serve as ushers for the meeting.

Bradfield Speaks At Co-op. Group

Speaks On "Getting Along With People" Before
Students Thursday Night

Dr. Lloyd Bradfield, dean of men, was the first of a series of speakers at the co-operative meeting of the work-study plan held yesterday evening. The subject of his talk was "Getting Along With People." Present at the assembly were the following students employed under the work-study plan:

Elfinor Johnson, Hawthorne School; Lois Hindman, Corrigan School; Daniel Sledge and Carol Haubroe, J. L. Brandeis & Sons; Jack McEwen, Federal Land Bank; Donald Ryan, First National Bank; Ruth Hall, Hayden Bros.; Robert Fritchhoff, Hinky-Dinky.

Alitha Mae Speck and Vera Moore, Kimball Laundry; Lucille Briggs, Miller Cereal Mills; William Cramer, Nebraska Power Co.; William Holland and Mary Ann Harrington, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.; James Britton, Omaha Flour Mills; Clifford Anderson, Swift & Co.; Roger Hughes, U. S. National Bank; and Macy Baum, Omaha Bee-News.

It has been planned to have a series of meetings throughout the year for these students, at which speakers will address them.

Anthes Elected Barb President

At an election held last Wednesday by the barb organization at Municipal University, the following officers were chosen to serve until next June: Bob Anthes, '37, president; Ed Kersensbrock, '38, vice-president; Ruth Grenville, '38, secretary; Rex Perkins, '38, treasurer; Tony Malone, '40, sergeant-at-arms.

Ed Nell Benson, last year's vice-president, acted as chairman at the meeting, which was held in Room 20.

Three Assist In Chemistry Labs

New laboratory assistants in general inorganic chemistry are Ralph Kline and Clitus Olson. Harold Kort is the laboratory assistant in organic chemistry, physics and the survey course of the natural sciences.

Bill Haberstroh, former assistant in the chemistry laboratory and graduate of Municipal University, is now employed as chemist by the Omar Flour mills.

CARDS WILL PLAY WAYNE WILDCATS IN OMAHA TODAY

Veteran Opponents
Meet At 2:00 O'clock
For Sixth Struggle

MUNI TEAM HEAVY

Meeting the fast-stepping Wayne Normal football team, the Cards will play their first home game today at 2 p. m. at the Thirtieth and Wirt street field. Coach Hickman of Wayne is bringing a squad of 25 players, 10 of them lettermen, to meet the heavy Omaha team. Wayne has always been formidable opposition for Omaha and appears to be the chief contender for the N. I. A. A. conference crown this year.

Omaha Winner Once

In five contests the Omahans have been able to defeat the Wildcats but once, the other four games ending in ties. Omaha was victorious last year, 19 to 6, with Pearsey, Tyler, Brown, and Boldenow taking the honors.

Wayne played a close contest last week, being nosed out by Northern Normal of Aberdeen, South Dakota, 7 to 6. A freshman named Murray is a new threat, along with veteran Retzlaff, who has caused the Cards much trouble in previous meetings. The Wildcats will be rather light, with an average of 175 pounds, but they have a center matching the weight of Omaha's Johnk, 210 pounds. Although Wayne has but one letterman in the backfield, the line is made up of six veterans.

Cards Favored

Omaha, in whipping Morningside and in giving the North Dakota State players a run for their money, has shown some power and thus appears the favorite for today's game. Omaha will probably start Kersensbrock and Sorenson at end, La Mantia and Gardner at tackle, Riggins and Crawford at guard, Johnk at center, and Kulper, Boldenow, Brown, and Tyler in the backfield.

Dawson To Speak To Chemistry Club At First Meeting

The first meeting of the Chemistry Club will be held in room 104 at Science Hall, October 9, at ten o'clock.

"Some of the Present Problems in Industrial Chemistry" is the subject of the address to be given by Dr. Lyle R. Dawson, new assistant professor in the department of chemistry and physics.

Anyone interested in chemistry will be welcome, according to Miss Nell Ward, associate professor of chemistry and sponsor of the club.

New Goal Posts Erected At 30th and Wirt Field

Steel goal posts, similar to those on Nebraska's football field, are being erected at the 30th and Wirt Street athletic field. The bursar's office has also purchased the first unit of the new steel grandstands to be installed soon.

The Old Question

Upperclassmen returning to school have settled down to another semester of study and school activities while most freshmen by this time have adapted themselves to the demands of their first semester of university training. With the way now smoothing itself before them, students will have time to think seriously of the problems facing them and the University.

One question is of particular interest in the minds of the students now. It is a question of vital importance to the future of every student, every faculty member, and every civic-minded citizen of Omaha.

When and where will the site for the new Greater Omaha University be chosen? President Haynes cannot answer that question, but he can and does promise that the time is drawing close; that the very near future will answer for itself.

When the decision is made you may rest assured that it will be a capable one. There have been delays, unnecessary delays, but there has not been, and will not be, a hasty decision. One hasty decision could easily wreck the whole future of the school while delay has merely sharpened desires and prepared the way for a new university in Omaha.

With this fact in mind, President Haynes and the Board of Regents have made complete detailed surveys of colleges and educational plans throughout the country, as well as numerous reports on jobs held by students enrolled here and high school graduates in Omaha and Council Bluffs who do not attend any college whatever.

With the results of these surveys in hand the regents have been able to arrive at certain definite facts about Greater Omaha University.

The fine four-year arts college that is now available will be maintained. Additional practical courses of the vocational type will be established to aid the working student. The Omaha Plan (work-study) will become a definite unit of the College of Applied Arts and Sciences. A Junior degree will be given at the end of two years' work to those students who are unable to spend four years in college. And finally, the University will be located for the convenience of the ninety-five per cent of working students whose jobs are completely outside school hours, and efforts will be made to help those five per cent of working students who work between classes.

In short, the Board of Regents and President Haynes are going to do everything humanly possible to obtain the enrollment of seventy-five per cent of high school graduates in Omaha and Council Bluffs who never attend college.

The regents are not making a hasty decision, but regardless of that, there will be some criticism. There always is; but if you, as students, have, or think you have, grounds for criticism, think and investigate first. Don't make a hasty decision.

Thru the Keyhole

When we spend a Saturday night in Sioux City we have plenty of dirt to dish. According to the Thetas the best part of the trip was Room 307.... what a nite, eh, Cardy? Betty Arnold concentrated on the "Bus Driver" and "Onawanna" tell on you, Betty, but didn't he stop for refreshments in Onawa? Ha, ha.

The freshmen seem to be usurping the Nelson, Thompson, Davis claim on the Hash....Need we name Hurlbut, Feichtmeyer, Furness, and Corzine? Watch your laurels, gals.

Bob Anthes (you know, he has anthes in his panthes) sure gets around. He's sprouting philosophy this season. Quote....All women are bad; one kind that looks bad and is bad, and one kind that looks good and is still bad. Sounds funny, especially when you were with Marge Noe on Thursday, Marian Mills on Friday, and Yva Heath on Saturday. Watch your step, Bob.

Before we forget, let's offer congrats to officers of the new pledge groups. "Will the meetin' please come to order."

This seems to be "down on Hesler" week.... What with the ribbing he takes on the campus and the punishment he takes in the Fontenelle Hotel....poor boy. Oh, yes, Dutch, did you have a good time at Peony last nite?

We nominate:

Busiest Girl—Amy Rohacek.
Tallest Freshman—Bill Morris.
Most Studious Freshman—Marjorie Disbrow.

Heard in a sociology class: The inspiration of the football team finally exposed....they all love her....they all fight for her....they all run for her. Guess who? It's Gertie....For information consult Tippy Tyler. Gee, we're gonna change our name to Gertie.

I s'pose you wish they'd throw me out—
If they knew I'm here, they would, no doubt.
So as long as I'm in again, you'll hafta hear—
This ipe-tray I've written—so lend an ear.
(Soft lights and any kind of music.)

Scene—Inside of a steam shovel.
Characters—Bill Kulper—and a whole slug of people on the outside looking in.
Time—Sorry—my watch's stopped again.
(Curtain.)

MERE I-THINK: Theme song of a broken clock, "Some'n Came 'n' Got Me in the Spring!" Why doesn't Louise Fore ever laff?...otherwise, she's sweet-pea-ple. Many-word description of Marjorie Linn....down-to-my-last-half-dozen-yachts-ish.

Don't forget the Political Prom....stags welcome. We'll be seein' you and so we say:

Can't think....brain dumb;
Inspiration won't come.
No ink. Pen dry;
See you tonite. Goodbye.

Omaha U-rhumba

By MARY JANE DAVISSON

Look, kiddies! There is some'n still-in-cellophane under the sun. It's a spick 'n' spanny new frolic known to its intimates as the Omaha Urhumba, to be danced to the tune of "Did I Urhumba?"....and I'll be only too, too happy to instruct you in detail.

First step: One chooses one's partner, doesn't one? And then after the two of you have been dully introduced, you grasp each other gingerly by the ears, and take two mincing steps forward until you bump into each other. (Loving lil' jig, isn't it?) At this juncture the orchestra should have completed six la-de-ahs.

Second step: Still grasping each other's ears firmly (but with lil' fingers prooked) both conspirators whirl to the right....and just try and complete a full circle. (There may be a little argle-bargle in carrying out this step....but just keep plugging 'til the sax trio reaches a crescendo. Then take a breather.

Third step: The paramount issue in this third action seems to be, "Where in thunder is my partner?"....h'mmmmm....Have you found it yet? Oakie-Oakie. We shall resume. Now strike a natural position, and instruct your sidekick to follasoot. Raise arms shoulder-high, turn hands out, palms upward, Egyptian-Ella fashion....and are you ready?...now SWING!!

(No time limit has been set for this one, as we realize that the music for this third and final step of the new Urhumba should be suited to the individual's needs.)

According to reports from the United Press, wires were crossed at the Morningside game, so the Bee-News printed the World-Herald account of the game and vice-versa.

Louder And Punnier

It had Benson time since the milkman, peddling his daily wares, last met Mortimer "Lord" Nelson returning from a night of festivity. However, the delightful acquaintance was renewed at Mortimer's doorstep on the particular morning of which we write.

Greeting his Lordship fondly, the milkman, whom we shall call Horace, exclaimed, "It's Sabata time you're getting home!"

"Hesler been anybody out looking for me?" inquired Mortimer.

"Why, you Lipsman," cried Horace. "Are you Sick?"

"Very, but Witkin I do about it?" admitted his Lordship.

"The seashore's where you belong. The Saltares good for you," replied Horace. "By the way, how is your brother?"

"Oh, Maxwell. I only wish I had half the wim, wigor, and Hansen-ness he's got," returned Mortimer, leaning on the doorbell.

The two cronies were startled when suddenly the door opened and the sleepy-eyed countenance of a butler appeared.

"What's all this Bickel-ing about?" asked the servant with just enough withering scorn in his voice to season the respect for his mawsta.

Ignoring James (the butler), his Lordship turned to Horace. "Y'see! My wife keeps after me all the time. She keeps Hurlbut-ler on my trail. I tell you, I can't re-Speckter any more."

Before turning to deliver himself into his jailer's hands, Mortimer whispered these last words into the milkman's willing ear: "Willets do it! You write me a note when you finish delivering your quarts, and I'll Burnett so my wife doesn't see it. Then I'll Klain you as my partner, and we'll Morris 't' th' mast of a schooner an' be free f'rever!"

But Horace thought better of his future and hurried away, murmuring on behalf of his would-be matey, "Oh, no; tomorrow you'll repent Unruh your wicked deeds."

Miss Brenner To Lecture On Silver, Tuesday At 3 P. M.

Miss E. Alberta Brenner will be in Room 14 at 3 o'clock next Tuesday, October 6, to give a lecture on "The Romance of Silver."

Miss Brenner has spent much time on research of the use and coinage of silver throughout the ages and brings with her a collection of rare and valuable silver pieces, which will be on display. Among these will be "The Unfinished Masterpiece," a piece of great value and rarity.

Elect Alpha Sig Officers Monday

Alpha Sigma Lambda held formal pledging for thirteen rushees at the Fontenelle hotel Monday night. The pledges elected the following officers: President, Don Peterson; Vice-President, Vincent Kelly; Secretary, David Baxter; Treasurer, Bob Johnson.

Plans were discussed for the homecoming parade and for a steak fry to be held tomorrow night.

CASH RECEIPTS UP

According to L. D. Crenshaw, bursar, cash receipts on student fees for September are 25 per cent more than for last September.

This is an indication of improvement in business conditions as far as students and their parents are concerned.

HEART BOMB

Dear Murgatroyd Mudburp:

I'm desperate, utterly desperate, and you will help me, won't you, dear, dear Murgatroyd? (I may call you Murgatroyd, mayn't I?)

It's like this: I'm a dud at parties—simply a dud. I just freeze up when I get in a gathering of young folk—and I just know if I could overcome this horrid complex, I'd be the belle of any brawl. So do, do help me.

(Signed)

WHATEVER SHALL I DO?

* * *

Dear Whatever Shall I Do:

Listen, Toots, your problem's a cinch. Now follow these directions to the last drop: Keep a small alarm clock behind your left ear until the party is in full swingit. Then let 'er go! (The alarm, I mean.) And immediately every other eye in the jernt will be focussed upon you. Now's your chance. Swiftly and ever so deftly take out the egg you've cleverly concealed in your sandal, and break it over the head of your nearest neighbor on the right. You will suddenly be so completely surrounded you won't be able to see a foot above your prostrate position. I'm telling you, my callow friend, it can't fail!

Here's Mudburp in your eye.

(Editor's Note: Any distressed individual desiring Miss Mudburp's advice, kindly send a used envelope containing a sworn statement of your dilemma to The Gateway office; and we promise to get a good laugh out of it before we pass it on to our Murgatroyd. Also, you must try one of her 1937 horrorscopes—they're delicious!)

Morningside Is Beaten by Cards

First Victory of Season for Omahans; 50 Rooters Go to Sioux City for Game

The Cardinals won their first victory of the season when they defeated Morningside, 13 to 0, on Yards field at Sioux City Saturday night. It was the second game of the year for the Cards and the first of the year for the Sioux Citians.

The half ended in a scoreless tie with neither team showing much in the way of an offense. The Cards' only serious scoring threat in the first half came when Johnk blocked a Maroon punt which was recovered by Kersenbrock on the Sioux 15-yard line. When tries, at the line, as well as passes, failed, Brown attempted a place kick, which missed by inches.

During the second half the Omahans played better ball, and Kulper and Brown went through the line and around the ends for large gains. In the third quarter, with the Cards' ball on the Maroon 36-yard line, Tyler flashed through right tackle and side-stepped the secondary for the first score. Brown's place kick was a little wide.

Halfback Russ Hughes and Quarterback Driscoll threatened many times with long runs and spinners, but they were soon quieted with the fine line play of Gardner, Johnk and Riggins.

The second score came late in the fourth quarter when the Cards marched from the Maroon 45-yard line to the 19. Brown completed to Tyler on the 2-foot line and Tyler walked through for six more points. Brown's kick boosted the score to 13 as the game ended.

Kersenbrock and Sorenson at ends, Crawford at guard, LaMantia at tackle and Boldenow's excellent blocking and tackling looked good for the Cards. For Sioux City, Brandon, Snyder and Miller showed up well.

A group of about 50 Cardinal rooters made the trip to cheer the team to victory.

Frosh Tounce Carter Lake's C. C. C. Eleven

While the varsity enjoyed a rest last Tuesday night, the Freshmen showed their talent and tounded the C. C. C. camp of Carter Lake 20 to 0.

The frosh, coached by Leo Pearey and Warren Howard, have many former prep stars on their squad of 30 and look like good material for Coach Hartman's future teams.

The yearlings found the C. C. C. boys plenty tough on the defense; and, though their offense lacked coaching, it was strong enough to give the junior Cards something to worry about.

The freshmen earned their first touchdown when Nielson, a shifty little halfback from Harlin, Iowa, ran his right end for six points. Joe Armstrong, a Chicago lad, plunged from the three-yard marker for the second, and the third came as a result of a series of passes from Gaer to Malone and Churchich, with Churchich crossing the line and making the score total 20.

Dougherty, German, Farner, Churchich, Gaer, and Malone looked best for the frosh and the C. C. C. stars were Miller, Ceon, Lynch, Johnston, and Thomas.

Salty Experiences Related By Dr. Leslie O. Taylor To Gateway Scribe

By GEORGE UNRUH

"One of the most bitter experiences I have ever had was falling into Salt Lake," declared Dr. L. O. Taylor, head of the Department of Education, in relating the pangs and pleasures of an extensive trip through the west last summer.

The Taylors, leaving Omaha on July 20, toured Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico, thence north to Yellowstone Park, southeast to Cheyenne, Wyo., and home about a month later.

Through the extent of their travels, they discovered a great variety of weather. In Colorado it was stifling hot, but in Utah they were welcomed by a barrage of cloudbursts, mud, and washouts.

Dr. Taylor stated that in places the roads for miles were tinted blood-red by the red ochre washing from the mountains. While Omaha was shriveling to a crisp under a hot sun, Dr. Taylor was waiting four hours while an impassable washout was being made "navigable." At another time Dr. Taylor, his wife, and son drove, or rather waded, through twelve miles of mud, taking turns in shoving the wallowing car through the sticky stuff.

In New Mexico, the Taylors found a fascinating country. "We traveled through miles of territory," said Dr. Taylor, "where we saw no type of residence except the crude adobe huts which were thinly scattered over the plain."

ORCHESIS MEETS

All girls interested in Orchesis are invited to attend the meeting Thursday evening at 5 o'clock in Jacobs' Hall.

The Indian's mode of life was strange, and very interesting to us."

Traveling from arid territory, they came upon luxurious Idaho, where long, green pastures, snow-capped mountains, and tall pines presented a different picture.
